

Clippon Bucket

The hydraulic "clippon" system, built into the body of the log forks, allows for a quick and secure engagement of the bucket.

The bucket is safely attached and released by the operator from within the cab. Buckets are made to suit the exact contour of the log fork.

